

Monthly Musings from Rev. Melissa Carvill-Ziemer

ow can we go deeper? That is one of the questions I often ask myself as I consider the programs and ministries of our congregation. How can we go deeper in cultivating compassion? How can we go deeper in our learning and serving? How can we go deeper in the work of growing our souls? Last year I was invited to consider participating in a program with that very goal in mind and, after a great deal of consideration and consultation, I have decided to give it a try and see where it leads us.

The program is called Soul Matters and it is a collaborative which now involves 50 other Unitarian Universalist congregations and ministers. The program was started by the Rev. Scott Tayler, the former cominister at the First Unitarian Church in Rochester and current Director of Congregational Life at the Unitarian Universalist Association. In exchange for a fee, we will now have access to the Soul Matters community and materials which include worship themes and resources and materials for small groups.

We have been developing our own worship themes for a few years now and have found them to be a great tool for deepening in worship. By joining Soul Matters, we will be aligning ourselves with other congregations all using the same themes. This means that Hal, Karen and I will have access to colleagues working on the same themes for brainstorming and resource sharing. We anticipate that this sharing will enrich us as we are introduced to resources beyond those we might have considered on our own.

In addition, all members of our congregation are invited to join the Soul Matters Facebook group. This is a place where we can have conversations about the themes we are exploring in worship with other Unitarian Universalists who are exploring the same themes in their worship services in other parts of the country.

The second component of Soul Matters is a packet of material which we will begin using for our Chalice Groups and Food for Thought Groups. We aligned our small group programs with our themes a couple of years ago. We have been creating a session plan each month on the theme with readings, quotations and questions for our groups to guide their conversation. By participating in Soul Matters, we will be able to utilize the packet of materials created collaboratively by the ministers in the program in our own small groups. The Soul Matters packets are much more comprehensive than the session plans we have created in the past. In addition to readings, quotations and questions, the packets also include spiritual exercises on the theme and book, film and journal recommendations. There is more material in these packets than our groups will be able to use. The idea is that by providing greater variety, group members will find it easier to connect with something in the material that really resonates with them and that by providing spiritual exercises, people will have opportunities to practice in addition to reflecting. Together I think those two components of Soul Matters are going to be an invitation to go deeper.

Beginning in September we will have sign up forms available for those who would like to participate in a small group this year. If this is something you are curious about but haven't yet tried, I'd like to invite you to participate in one of the sample sessions I will be leading this month. The details are inside this edition of the Chalice Flame (see page 3). I believe participating in Chalice or Food for Thought Groups is one of the best ways we offer for meaningful spiritual exploration beyond our Sunday morning worship services. The Soul Matters packet for September will be posted on our website. Check it out and let me know if you have any questions.

In faith,

UPCOMING SERVICES

9:45 and 11:30 am

Sept 7 - To Be Human is to Promise

Multigenerational Ingathering Service & Water Communion Rev. Melissa Carvill Ziemer with Worship Associate Bonnie Harper and Director of Religious Education Karen Lapidus

We are "promise-making, promise-breaking, promise-renewing" animals. That is what the Israeli Jewish philosopher Martin Buber once said and to me it rings true. This morning as we welcome the whole community back together after some have been away for summer work and play, we explore the promises we make to one another. Please bring a small container of water and/or earth with you to church this Sunday to represent a place where you felt fully awake to your humanity this summer.

Sept 14 - We Pledge Our Hearts

Rev. Melissa Carvill Ziemer

Unitarian Universalism is a covenantal faith tradition. The word covenant is a religious word to talk about promises. When we become members of a Unitarian Universalist congregation we are making a promise to ourselves, to one another and to that which is larger than ourselves. What is that promise?

Sept 21 - The Orchard Within a Seed

Rev. Melissa Carvill Ziemer

There is a beautiful story about a man who plants trees even though he knows he won't live long enough to harvest the fruit. And still he plants anyway, as a promise to the future. What promises do you want to make to the people who will come after you?

Sept 28 - International Unitarian Universalism

Rev. Melissa Carvill Ziemer and Worship Associate John Marfy

I made a promise that I will be fulfilling this Sunday. I promised to offer a sermon on any topic chosen by the highest bidder at our annual service auction last year. Eric Van Baars was the winner and he has invited me to reflect on the practices of Unitarian Universalists around the globe.

Sample Chalice Groups Offered in September

If you have thought about participating in a Chalice Group but haven't been sure it is right for you, consider coming to one of the two sample groups Rev. Melissa will be offering this month.

Wednesday, September 10 from 7 to 9 pm in the Founders Lounge

Tuesday, September 23 from 7 to 9 pm in the Founders Lounge

Before you come to the sample group, please read through the September Soul Matters packet which you can find on our website www.kentuu.org/soul-matters-packet/ Give yourself a little time to try out one of the spiritual practices included in the packet.

Simple Gifts received...

Bonnie Harper

In appreciation for all the beautiful voices in the Sacred Song Circle

Our Simple Gifts program is designed to encourage everyday giving. If members and friends of the congregation continue to remember the church with regular gifts, we will be well on our way to building the kind of endowment that can help ensure our congregation's continuing health and vitality.

No gift is too small or too large.

Donations can be made in celebration, in honor of someone or something, in appreciation or to note a special occasion. If you would like to participate, the blue Simple Gift envelopes can be found in the pews; please include your dedication and name so we can provide you with a donation credit. Thank you.

LOVE! LOVE! LOVE!

2014-2015 Program of Religious Education for Children and Youth

Religious Education

We have been hearing a lot about love lately. The theme of the 2014 General Assembly was "Love Reaches Out". Our religion challenges us to be "Standing on the Side of Love". Every Sunday when we gather we proclaim that "love is the spirit of this church" and that "we are the church of the loving hearts". Love, love, love! It seemed obvious that our theme for this coming year's religious education program for children and youth should be love.

The curriculum that the RE Committee has chosen closely aligns with the theme and will certainly give our children and youth many opportunities to explore how love can be used to change the world.

Here is an overview of our classroom offerings. Most of the content below was drawn from authors' descriptions.

Our preschool class (ages 3 by September 1st to not yet in Kindergarten) will be using the classic UU program, Chalice Children. Based on the premise that children learn best through experience, this program helps nurture spiritual growth, creativity and a sense of community through imaginative activities and rituals such as rhymes and finger plays. It promotes Unitarian Universalist identity and the importance of a faith community.

The children in Kindergarten, 1st and 2nd grades will use the Wonderful Welcome curriculum which engages and challenges leaders and children alike to explore how and why we are willing to welcome others into our lives. We welcome not only strangers, but family, our peers, our neighbors and even entities that are not people such as our animal friends and nature itself. We do this by offering gifts, such as love, forgiveness, kindness and friendship.

Grades 3, 4 and 5 will use Love Connects Us, a program that celebrates important ways Unitarian Universalists live our faith in covenanted community. Moved by love and gathered in spirit, we embrace our responsibility toward one another and the world at large. We encourage one another's search for truth and meaning. We strive to be active in peace-making and other efforts to improve our world. Children learn how our actions create a new heritage of connecting in love which will shape the faith of future generations.

At 11:30, we have a Multi-Age Class for school-aged children who attend the second service because they have older siblings in our youth groups, because they sing in the Golden Tones choir or because coming to the second service is a better option for their family. This class will be using Signs of Our Faith: Being UU Every Day.

Unitarian Universalism asks us to think about religion as the practice of being faithful to what you love. In order to do this, you must decide what you love and do your best to live that love faithfully every day. The program guides children to do their best to live faithful lives every day. It presents fourteen traits or values that most Unitarian Universalist love, including the quest for knowledge, reverence for life, supporting one another on our faith journeys, and public witness. Children examine how their lives do and can exhibit these traits and values, and come to understand that their faith is a living faith whose histories and teachings are fortifications for living faithfully in a complex world.

Our Middle School Youth Group (grades 6, 7 and 8) will be using Building Bridges. This program is a reworking of Neighboring Faiths (which is a reworking of Church Across the Street). It is a world religions program to deepen youth's understanding of the dynamic, fascinating, and varied world in which they live. It seeks to broaden their knowledge of humanity and embolden their spiritual search. The youth will be learning about different religions and then visiting some of the various faith communities.

The High School Youth Group (grades 9-12) will be using the small group ministry materials that accompany the Soul Matters theme-based worship program. As the monthly themes are being examined in worship, our youth will be engaging with these same themes in their classroom. Some of the themes this year include promise, grace, wonder and integrity. The youth group's model of shared leadership and putting faith into action are sure to align perfectly with the program.

On Tuesday evenings, our 8th graders will be participating in Our Whole Lives (OWL), a sexuality education program that models and teaches caring, compassion, respect, and justice. A holistic program that moves beyond the intellect to address the attitudes, values, and feelings that youth have about themselves and the world. Unlike many other sexuality curricula currently available, this program is comprehensive and progressive. In an inclusive and developmentally appropriate manner, it addresses sensitive topics that are typically excluded.

Our yearlong Coming of Age: Deepening Ties Within Your Congregation program for 9th and 10th graders is designed to acknowledge the transition between childhood and youth. It's a vibrant program focusing on the youths themselves and their unique journeys. Coming of Age is a transformative experience. While exploring life's big questions, each participant strives to assume self-responsibility, gain self-confidence, experience an expanded world, understand the importance of community, and develop a personal value system. Their year will culminate in Coming of Age Sunday when the participants share their personal statements of faith with the congregation.

The RE Committee, the RE Teachers, the Youth Group Advisors and I are really looking forward to a wonderful year filled with learning and love. Preschool RE starts on September 7th at the 9:45 service. The other classes begin on September 14. (Nursery Care is provided at every worship service.) See our website for more information and for links to most of the programs we are using this year.

In faith and with love,

Karen Lapidus
Director of Religious Education

Hal's Music Corner

I thank God for Ohio summers, for my backyard, for the Earth which I lie upon and for sacred times of slowing down and healing. For me, this summer has been one of connection: connection with Earth and water, connection with friends and family, connection with body and spirit. Today, I am grateful for these tender times in life which offer so much growth -- even though it doesn't always feel that good.

And now comes September... and the continuation of the musical renaissance at the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Kent. The music committee and I have several important announcements to make about our expanding music program -- so get ready -- are you in? Here we go!

We're currently working on updating the music page of our website and creating a 3-fold brochure which will highlight our church's music program. Please keep an eye out for these developments.

September 1st marks the start up of rehearsals for our esteemed musical ensembles. I'm looking forward to working again with these musical families within the greater family of our congregation. The Kent UU Peace Choir meets on Sunday nights at 6:30 pm. The Fallow Time Folk Orchestra meets on Thursday nights at 7 pm. The Golden Tones (of real beauty) Junior Choir meets on Wednesdays at 4:00 pm. And the Kent UU Tone Chimers meets on Wednesdays at 5:30 pm.

ALL are welcome to participate in our music program. Please contact Hal Walker to discuss where your skills would fit best.

The Cuyahoga River Concert Series is now an official UU Church of Kent event. Our series this Fall will begin on Saturday, Sept 20 with a concert by Hal Walker and Matt Watroba. On this rare concert event, Hal will be joined by the beautiful harmonies of his vocal trio, You, You and Me. We are currently looking for members of our congregation to help with publicity, providing intermission snacks and ticket sales. Please contact Hal Walker if you're interested in making this concert series the best music venue in Kent! What a great way to get involved in the life of our church.

Finally, Saturday, October 11th will be our second annual "UU've Got Talent - an Evening of Musical Variety" (see page 9). We have a limited number of spots available for musical acts. Again, contact Hal Walker by Sept. 21st if you'd like your act to be considered for the show.

I think that's all for now! This Fall, let's celebrate what a musical congregation we have!

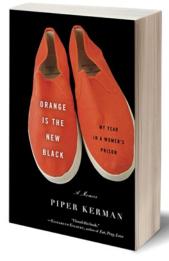

Peace, Hal

Orange is the New Black

The Patricia Pownall UU Book Group will be meeting on Tuesday, September 9 at 7 pm in the home of Trish Johnson-Kwartler.

Carrot cake by Bill Bowen will be served. We'll meet in the church parking at 6:30 pm to carpool. This month we are reading Orange is the New Black: My Year in a Woman's Prison by Piper Kerman.

The author was sent to prison for a ten-year-old crime for drug trafficking. She spent thirteen months in prison, eleven of them at the federal correctional facility in Danbury, Connecticut.

This is a look into the lives of women in prison; why we lock so many away, and what happens to them when they are there.

In October, it will be reader's choice. Also at October's gathering, we will have a book exchange. Bring books that you no longer want and trade with other group members. All left over books will be donated Empower Portage. If you have any questions you may contact Bonnie Harper. All are welcome.

Our Journeys

Meeting our Future Ministerial Intern

"To finish the moment, to find the journey's end in every step of the road, to live the greatest number of good hours, is wisdom." The early writings of Ralph Waldo Emerson suggest that he regarded life as a journey. This simple expression by Emerson years later has been interpreted to mean, "Life is a journey not a destination".

Emerson's simple expression conveys in the simplest of terms my personal philosophy as to how our lives are a journey not a destination. Part of my journey at this time is to become trained on how to be an effective minister for the Unitarian Universalist Association. In September of 2013, after many months of searching and questioning my own soul, I received a call to the ministry. My first decision after deciding to heed that call was to choose a ministerial school. I looked at several and made my decision to attend Meadville Lombard Theological School.

My decision to attend this ministry school was based upon several factors, one being their mission statement, which states, "At Meadville Lombard Theological School, we educate students in the Unitarian Universalist tradition to embody liberal religious ministry in Unitarian Universalist congregations and wherever else they are called to serve. We do this to take into the world our Unitarian Universalist vision of justice, equity, and compassion."

Part of my ministerial studies requires me to work with a congregation and receive that ministerial training in a hands on sort of way. Your Pastor and congregation have been selected. I am in my first year of my studies and will be spending time doing eight hours a week of community service for a non-profit. Your minister has agreed to be my teaching pastor and to guide me and direct me in my journey this first year. My second year of my studies is called congregational and I will be spending 20 hours a week working with your congregation and learning about what it means to be a minister in a congregational setting. This will begin in September of 2015. My third year of ministerial studies is called Leadership and I will be continuing my journey of working with your congregation.

I am excited to be working with your minister and then to have the opportunity for two years to get to work with and to know all of you. Thank you for being willing to walk with me on this journey. Unitarian Universalist principles have been something that I have tried to embrace through my adult life. Being raised by a Catholic father and a Jewish mother provided me with a solid foundation in diversity and religious practices and rituals.

My life's journey brought me to Cleveland

Ohio in the summer of 2008 for work and for love. Earlier that year in April I met my partner, Jerry, and after a 6 month, long-distance relationship between Chicago and Cleveland, made the decision to relocate. Shortly after meeting my partner, I had come to Cleveland for a long weekend visit, and he invited me to attend the Unitarian Church. Much to my surprise, I found the church and the congregation to be a welcoming place, and within the next six months, I joined.

Over these past few years I have had the opportunity to serve in many roles in my congregation, and have enjoyed the people and the experiences that come along with service. Recently I finished a two year service as a worship associate, and gained a greater appreciation as to what it is to prepare and present a sermon, and to work with the members and committees of the church in the work that they do. I am excited to have this opportunity to work with your congregation as a Ministerial Intern, and look forward to the many lessons that you will teach me about how to be a minister, as we move along this new journey in each of our lives.

Sincerely,

Dave Clements Ministerial Intern

Islam 101: Friday, September 5, 2014

Join us for an evening in developing cultural and religious awareness presented by Mr. Isam Zaiem, founder of the Cleveland chapter of the Council on American-Islamic Relations.

Mr. Zaiem's lecture, "Islam 101 and Being Muslim Post 9/11: Challenging Islamophobia and Marginalization", on Sept 5th, is the introductory event to three fall Symposiums, sponsored by the Library Committee.

"Art and Allah: Increasing Our Understanding of Muslim Art, History and Culture" will be held at 7:00 pm in the Sanctuary on the following Wednesdays: September 24, October 22 and November 22. The first two events will be presented by Gingr Vaughn and will concentrate on Islamic Art as an expression of the Islamic belief system and culture.

The 3rd event will concentrate on Islamic history with presenter TBA. Mark you calendar for the dates above. Recent political developments in the Middle East make this is a special learning opportunity for our entire congregation.

In Our Own Backyard: The Immigration Crisis in Ohio

September 13, 9:30am to 3:30pm, Unitarian Universalist Church of Akron

The immigration crisis is not something that happens just at America's borders. It is happening right here in Ohio and affects us all. Our current immigration policies are not working; the flood of children coming into this country brings with them a myriad of social, political, moral and spiritual issues.

What can we in a northeast Ohio learn about immigration and what can we do about it? UUA President Peter Morales has been on the foreground of immigration concerns since becoming UUA president. He is convening this emergency conference of Northeast Ohio UU's with our faith and community partners to consider how we can support immigration reform and respond to the humanitarian crisis of the new refugee immigrant children here among us.

President Morales will be the keynote preacher at the Opening Worship event that will start the day. President Morales and United Church of Christ General Minister, Geoffrey Black, are inviting our area faith leaders to join them at this event to speak as one voice on the immigration crisis.

Jeff Stewart of the Immigrant Worker Project is leading the panels and workshops, and Carol Temerson of UU Justice Ohio will convene our conversations about organizing strategy. Rev. Tim Temerson and members from our Akron Church have organized the most effective outreach program to the immigrants among us and will be telling us their story. Rev. Melissa Carvill-Ziemer will share news of the national strategy to pressure President Obama to stop the deportations.

The morning will include a panel presentation during which we will be able to hear from immigrants whose lives have been directly affected by this crisis including: a child who has recently crossed the border, a mother who has recently crossed the border in hopes of family reunification, and a person who has recently been detained by Border Patrol.

Child Care will be available and Youth participation is encouraged. There is no charge for this conference program, although a donation for lunch and child care will be requested. We will also be inviting an offering for the Immigrant Worker Project during our morning worship. To register, please visit the Ohio Meadville District website at: http://ohiomeadville.org/omdevents/772-akronimmigration

U-U've Got Talent!

"An Evening of Musical Variety"

The UU Church of Kent Music Committee is hosting a fundraiser.

Join us!

October 11th at 7:30pm at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Kent

228 Gougler Ave, Kent, OH 44240

Raising funds to pay for the services of an accompanist for our beloved choir. Come and enjoy an eclectic selection of music as we transform our sanctuary into a venue for highlighting the remarkable talents of our very musical congregation and community. $15 is the suggested donation, but please give what you can – hope to see you there!

We Are Also In Search of Musical Talent!

"We know you've got it, it's time to let it out!"

This is your opportunity to perform solo or to invite others to create a small ensemble. This is your chance to release that creative spark within you. Before Sunday, September 21, please contact Hal Walker with your idea. We are looking for a diverse range of 3 to 5 minute musical selections that express your unique talent. Only a limited number of spots are available, so start getting ready now! All ages welcome!

Church Campout

It's time once again for the "Where's Walden" fall camp-out. We'll be gathering the weekend of October 3-5th at the Loleta Recreation Area in the Alleghany National Forest in Pennsylvania. The campground is about two hours from Kent. This is a family friendly event and everyone is welcome, but there is a limit on the group size, so sign up soon on the form posted downstairs in Fessenden Hall. We're staying at the group site which can accommodate tents. If you wish to bring a camper, you're welcome to reserve a site in the adjoining campground.

Dinners are pot luck style; everyone brings their own table ware and food and drink to share. The theme Friday night is American cookout; Saturday's theme is comfort food. Randy Leeson cooks pancakes, bacon and eggs for all on Saturday and Sunday morning. Everyone furnishes their own lunches and snacks. Activities to choose from include: hiking, canoeing, kayaking, exploring the stream, and relaxing around the campfire.

The cost for the weekend is $10 per person, with a maximum of $20 per family. This fee covers the cost of the campground and firewood; there is an additional cost if you wish to rent a canoe or kayak.

The connection between nature, wilderness, and spirituality goes back to the very origins of humanity. The Unitarian Universalist Church of Kent will host a program entitled "A Wilderness Icon: America's Red Rock Canyonlands" on Wednesday, September 17 at 7:30 pm.

The speaker will be Clayton Daughenbaugh, conservation organizer with the Southern Utah Wilderness Alliance and Chairperson of the Sierra Club's National Wildlands and Wilderness Committee. Daughenbaugh will address the topic of faith and the land while promoting the national campaign to protect America's red rock wilderness.

The program includes a multi-media slideshow documenting citizen efforts to designate public lands in southern Utah's spectacular canyon country as part of the National Wilderness Preservation System. This 15-minute journey through red rock splendor, narrated by Robert Redford, invigorates and motivates viewers to participate in the movement to protect these unique lands. Comprehensive legislation is pending in Congress and administrative decisions by the Department of Interior are ongoing.

The national campaign to protect the Red Rock Canyonlands has been endorsed by the Unitarian Universalist General Assembly and by the Unitarian Universalist Ministry for the Earth.

Daughenbaugh says, "Desert lands have long been a place for mystical and spiritual experiences. These public lands are among the most beautiful and most intact portions of Creation remaining. We have a great opportunity to act to protect these special places."

RAISING THE BAR

"Healthy faith communities see stewardship as a vital component of their ministry. They understand that stewardship is an act of worship. Worship includes the joyful sharing of gifts (aptitude, ability, and money), call (willingness to proclaim the congregation's spiritual message), and spiritual vocation (willingness to take up volunteer efforts to support the faith community)." ~Wayne B. Clark

Welcome to a new newsletter feature: a monthly column about stewardship. We will be musing about the giving ministry of this church. As cochairs of the stewardship committee, we believe giving is a spiritual practice and our column will be exploring the many aspects of giving. We hope to challenge, to inform, to invite, and to listen. Not only will we use the print and electronic media to inform you about stewardship, we will be offering monthly "giving" activities. Look for a Stewardship Table at the Ministry Fair on Sunday, September 14th. Stay tuned!

"We have the opportunity to use resources to help care for others and those less fortunate than ourselves as a sign of our gratitude, and the essential question is not how much we can afford to give, but how much we can afford to keep." ~Stephen Gray

SERVICE AUCTION ART

Artists who would like to donate art to this year's service auction on Nov. 8, please contact Jan Noden.

Artwork needs to be ready for the Art Preview Party on Friday, Oct. 17.

THE WI$DOM PATH Money, Spirit, and Life

The UUA has developed a new program on the topic of money and spirituality that will be offered at our church this year for the first time. As the program materials note, "Money plays a role in nearly every aspect of our lives. Depending on how we understand it, our relationship with money can enhance or limit our ability to live our lives to the fullest. In this program, participants join together to give this important aspect of our lives due attention in a religious community. The heart of this program is an exploration of the relationship between money and spiritual values, specifically our Unitarian Universalist values."

Participants will explore money and values through conversation and activities that allow them to consider their own stories and different perspectives on money, help them feel better equipped to make money decisions, and encourage them to consider whether they want to pursue changes to bring their financial choices in better alignment with their values.

The 12 sessions will be offered as 3 topical series. Although members can drop into any session, you will get the most out of the program if you attend regularly. The first series, on Money and Self, is an introduction to the program in which participants explore their own attitudes and experiences with money. The three sessions in this series will meet on Thursday nights September 11, 18, and 25 at 7PM.

After a short break, the second series will meet every other week starting mid-October (on a Monday, Tuesday, or Thursday, depending on the preferences of those attending the first session). This series of 5 sessions, on Money, Spirit, and Life, will guide participants toward taking actions that align with their personal values. The last series, Money and Society (4 sessions), explores how our financial ways of being affects others. The last series will meet in January and February.

Questions? Want more information? Please contact Kathy Kerns.
