The 15th each month

Our mission is to inspire people to live caring lives of meaning and purpose. That is at the heart of why we exist as a congregation. This month in our worship services we will be exploring purpose. Our word purpose comes from an old 13th century French word, porpos, meaning aim or intention. That is one way we often understand what purpose is all about. Another common meaning refers to the reason for which something exists or is done. This is the usage of the word people typically have in mind when they talk about purpose in life.

You may remember a wildly popular book that came out about a decade ago called The Purpose Driven Life. Written by Rick Warren, the founding pastor of Saddleback Church, the book is a guide for Christians to discover the life purpose that God has ordained for them. Evangelical Christians and many other religious people believe that God has a plan for their lives. Understanding that plan and living their lives in alignment with that plan is the ultimate goal of many religious people.

Unitarian Universalism does not offer that kind of clear certainty. Neither I nor the tradition would venture to tell you what purpose God has ordained for your life. We do talk about callings. Just last week I spoke in my sermon about how we are called to live lives that are worthy of the gift of our lives. But how to do that – what worthy purposes we should devote ourselves to – that is something each of us must wrestle out in our own hearts and minds. That doesn't mean that we need to do it alone. What it means is that we alone know the fierce and fiery longing that shines within us. We exist as a religious community, in part, to support one another in identifying, evaluating and living into the purposes to which we feel most deeply called.

From my early adolescence, I have known that part of my purpose in life is to be a parent. For most of the last four years I have been able to realize that purpose. I first got a taste of that fulfillment with my nieces who we cared for during a year when my sister was unable to do so. We have immersed ourselves in the joys and the challenges of fully realizing that purpose as foster parents for the last two years. We have had four children in our home, all of them infants. Most of you know that Meghan came first when she was ten days old. Tyler and Sammy were next, each of them with us for three months. Calvin came into our care about a month ago. He is ten months old. Meghan is with us still. She is nearly two. Most of you also know that we have been hoping and praying that we would be able to adopt Meghan. I am heartbroken to tell you that is not to be.

A relative of one of her biological parents has volunteered to take legal custody of Meghan. State law prioritizes blood relatives over foster parents when selecting a permanent home for children who cannot reside with their biological parents. The choice to take her is the relatives' to make. Consequently, we have been participating in a transition plan this past month. The agency's goal is to have Meghan moved permanently into the relatives' home by mid December.

Upcoming Sermons

27 November

The Education Of God: Noah

Revs. David and Beverly Bumbaugh with the Rev. Melissa Carvill-Ziemer

An ancient myth tells of a time when one world ended and a new world came into being. This sermon will explore that old, familiar story in an effort to uncover what message it may contain for our own time when history threatens to become discontinuous.

4 December

Dance in the Dark of the Year

The Bittersweet Christmas Band with worship associate Kathy Kerns

In the mid-winter festivals of light there is something for everyone to celebrate, from the most devoutly believing Christian to the most confirmed Atheist. As we meditate on this darkest time of the year and simultaneously turn back toward the light, we will invite everyone to honor whatever most closely touches their hearts and minds.

11 December

Living with Purpose

Rev. Melissa Carvill-Ziemer and Worship Associate Eric VanBaars

Our mission is to inspire people to live lives of meaning and purpose. What does it mean to live with purpose? Is purpose ordained, nurtured, chosen? Do we always know it in advance or do we see it sometimes more clearly in retrospect? What difference does it make? This morning we'll swim in the questions.

18 December

The Last Straw

Rev. Melissa Carvill-Ziemer, Director of Religious Education Karen Lapidus and Worship Associate Dani Beale

This year we continue our tradition of making the Sunday before Christmas a family-friendly, multigenerational celebration of the season. Come hear the story of an old camel, a little lamb and the journey of lifetime. Come see what purpose may be found when we follow where we are led, even when we aren't sure why.

24 December

Christmas Eve Candlelight Services

Rev. Melissa Carvill-Ziemer, Director of Religious Education Karen Lapidus and Worship Associate Elaine Bowen

6:30 pm A special family friendly service of lessons and carols to welcome the spirit of Christmas into the world.

8:30 pm A special service of lessons and carols to welcome the spirit of Christmas into the world.

25 December- 10:30 am service only Timeless Gifts

The Rev. Melissa Carvill-Ziemer and Worship Associate Max Grubb

This morning we offer you the timeless gifts of worship and community. We promise touching story, beautiful song and time for contemplation followed by a Christmas brunch for any who would like to stay and share a meal. Elaine and Bill Bowen will be preparing scrambled eggs and Bill's Biscuits and offering orange juice, coffee and tea. You are welcome to bring a dish to round out the meal if you like, though bringing something is not required.

After brunch, anyone who wishes is welcome to stay for an afternoon of games. Bring your favorite game with you! One of our games will be a white elephant gift exchange. If you would like to participate in the gift exchange, please bring a wrapped gift (homemade or repurposed is fine) and indicate on a tag if the gift would be best received by an adult, youth or child or person of a particular gender. If you are going to purchase something for the gift exchange, please observe a $5 spending limit.

Please note – we will have only one service today at 10:30 am. No religious education classes will be offered. Children are invited to attend the service. Nursery care will be available for infants and toddlers.

Moderator's Corner

I've been running around for months now quoting Einstein. So I felt it appropriate to do a reality check, to identify some of the things that have happened that would show movement. At this month's Board of Trustee Meeting I asked the question, "What has happened since we began our work?" These are the responses I received.

Kay Eckman, Treasurer

- The clearing of the garage and shed with a replacement shed going up.
- Forward movement with the expansion team on the asbestos study.
- Doug Fuller Study in process (part of the work of the Feasibility Task Force).
- Can we mention the capital campaign is starting to take donations?

Kathie Slater, Assistant Moderator

- Campus Groups forming in response to ministry outreach.
- Reorganizing of the Media Committee with update to Website to follow.
- Might mention that the Board is interacting with the congregation each month: Congregational Chats, Ministry Day, Board Service Auction Dinner--and that we will be joining the Chancel Committee to help decorate the Church on December 4th.
- Comprehensive rental policy was written and put into place

Kim Marfy, Secretary

- The Facebook page, and a new social media policy.
- Also what about hiring the new sexton?

Mac Goekler, Outreach to the Wider World

- The board created the Feasibility Team to continue the work of the Expansion Team with the express purpose of obtaining an accurate quote for renovating our Church building striving to maximize the sanctuary seating capacity. Upon completion of this work there will be a congregational meeting where the results will be shared.
- The board is now using many of Policy Based Governance tools, including a consent agenda with the result of better and shorter board meetings. New and old policies are being reviewed and discussions with the paid staff on handing off day to day operational decisions to them have begun.
- The buildings and grounds team is busy clearing land behind the Church building and the Annex with the intent of adding more parking.

Colleen Norris, Trustee Building and Grounds

- I have been volunteering to repair our church for quite some time. Before I was elected I helped the former B/G trustee Ed Stollish to repair and or replace things, like the smoke and Co2 alarms, and repair the handrails in the front.
- Since I have been elected I have replaced door handles in the nursery, and hung coat and or purse hooks in the nursery and restrooms.
- I installed a conduit cover on the church steps to enclose the exposed wiring,
- Repaired the broken annex steps, replaced deck screws and hung white boards in the annex, con-

Grief pervades my days and nights. Some of you may have noticed I have been carrying its weight. Like many other kinds of grief, there is nothing anyone can do or say to make this any better. I simply have to live through it. I know that it will take the work of grieving and the passage of time. I also know there will be other children. They will not replace her; no one could ever replace Meghan. But despite this heartache I know I am still called. Part of my purpose in life is to parent. Whoever else comes, Meghan will always be our first baby. I know that I will never stop loving her and that the strength of my love has formed the foundation of her beautiful young life. I am so grateful that I have had these past two years to parent such an incredible child.

Purpose. Is it ordained, nurtured, chosen? Purpose. Can we always know it in advance or do we see it sometimes more clearly in retrospect? Purpose. What difference does it make? Purpose. That is our theme this month at church. Come explore with us. It will be good to be together.

In faith,

Tax Implications of Charitable Giving Seminar

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Kent Vision Statement -

Our vitality and passion call us to restore and expand our space to equal the energy of our dreams. As we do, we are better equipped to carry on our historic legacy and embrace our potential for connection, service, programming and outreach.

Many of you likely know that we will soon be launching a capital campaign in order to help us fulfill our congregation's vision. Our Feasibility Team has contracted with an architect to give us an estimate on the cost of our sanctuary renovation project and we hope to have those results before the end of the year. When we do, we will call a congregational meeting to share the results and to talk about what they mean for our next steps.

Meanwhile, the Capital Campaign Team, which currently includes Amy Edmonds, Randy Leeson, Dave Smeltzer and the Rev. Melissa Carvill-Ziemer, have been busy outlining a plan, timeline and needed resources and connecting with folks from the congregation who told us last year that they would be willing to be Pacesetters for the campaign. As part of this early preparatory work, the Capital Campaign Team has decided to host a general seminar on the tax implications of charitable giving.

Sondra Gaylord, Enrolled Agent, LLC and Fellow of the National Tax Practice Institute will be our presenter. Some of you may know Sondra as she is a Unitarian Universalist from the Youngstown area who is a regular at Summer Institute. She is looking forward to helping members and friends of our congregation learn more about the tax implications of charitable giving as we look forward to our campaign.

In addition to presenting general information, Sondra will discuss the following:

- tax advantages that may be realized by splitting major gifts over two years
- the how to's and the tax implications of giving physical property including gold, securities, real estate, jewelry etc.
- tax implications of gifts made as result of withdrawals from IRAs or other retirement accounts
- tax implications of leaving a gift as a bequest

If you have other general questions you would like her to address, Sondra has requested that we send those to her ahead of time so she can be sure to have all the latest information available to share. After her presentation, if anyone wants to consult privately about a specific question, Sondra will make herself available for brief individual consultation.

This seminar will be held on Sunday, December 11 beginning at approximately 12:45 pm in Fessenden Hall. A light lunch will be served. Please RSVP to the church office by Wednesday 12/7 so we know how many people to expect for lunch. If you have questions for Sondra or would like more information, please contact any member of the Capital Campaign Team.

Pancakes will now be a special occasion occurring 1-2 times a year. Look for announcements for upcoming dates.

Holiday Share is Coming

Don't miss out on the opportunity to both donate and purchase gifts and goodies for yourself and others. We offer homemade foods and handcrafted items along with other holiday decorations and gifts. Shop and donate from December 4-18.

A Social Justice Social Hour

Social justice generally refers to the idea of creating a society or institution that is based on the principles of equality and solidarity, that understands and values human rights, and that recognizes the dignity of every human being - Wikipedia

What do we mean by social justice.? Is it religious? secular? political? moral? philosophical? economic? environmental? Is it defined by what it is not: socially-generated injustice?

Or is social justice the only kind of justice there is?

I propose that, above all, social justice is social, about the way we as a society – or in smaller social groups – think, talk and act about issues of justice, fairness, equality.

...and therefore I propose a Social Justice Social Hour – a [Fair-Traded] coffee hour Sunday mornings in Fessenden Hall during second service, starting December 4.

These will be informal friendly discussions – no programmed topics, agendas or speakers -- about how we as churches, communities and social entities deal with issues of common justice and the common good.

I plan to facilitate – not lead – explorations of ideas of both substance and process. We won't be limited to certain topics, nor excused from controversial ones. We will tackle timely and difficult issues – drone killings, WikiLeaks, abortion, gun control, sexual abuse, nuclear energy & weapons.

I hope that participants will bring their ideas and concerns.

My hope is that these discussions may help us get to know each other, generate conviviality and solidarity within the church, and create a little more focus and direction on the moral, political, economic and environmental parameters of justice and injustice we face as a church and as citizens of a world community.

Join me on December 4!

Caroline Arnold

Caroline Arnold with her employer,
John Glenn, circa 1985.

ABOUT CAROLINE ARNOLD

Caroline Arnold retired in 1997 after 12 years on the staff of U.S. Senator John Glenn, both in Washington and in his Cleveland office, writing speeches and ceremonial prose, and monitoring environmental, technical and educational issues in Ohio. Since her retirement she has been a regular op-ed columnist for the Kent-Ravenna Record Courier. Over 100 of her essays have been posted on the progressive web site Common Dreams (www.commondreams.org)

Before going to Washington Arnold was elected to three terms on the Kent Board of Education. She is a founding member of the Kent Environmental Council and serves on the board of Family & Community Services of Portage County. A member of the Unitarian Universalist Church of Kent since 1967, she recently stepped down as chair of the Social Justice Committee.

Daughter of long time KSU professor and peace activist, Dwight L. Arnold, she has taught at Ohio State University and Kent State University, and founded the Peaceable Kingdom Bakery in Kent.

Arnold is also a cellist and composer. She plays in the Stow Symphony and enjoys playing chamber music, gardening, rambling by the Cuyahoga River and spending time with her two children and their families.

Money Matters

October's numbers

Incoming Revenues

October $15,340.00

YTD $71,551.00

Outgoing Expenses

October $15,969.00

YTD $72,506.00

Our expenses exceeded our revenues in October. The proceeds of our service auction will increase our reserves as planned. We are pretty much on budget. As always, a more detailed income and expense report can be found with the board reports in the Founders Lounge.

Service Auction

WOW!

A huge thanks to Lois Weir and Jennifer May and the whole service auction team for a great job. Income from the service auction is projected to be around $19,000. Thanks to all of those contributing, volunteering and buying. About $1 out of every $10 in our annual budget comes from the service auction.

UUA/OMD Dues

Of our $11,525 pledged this summer to meet our UUA/OMD dues, $9,202 has been collected (80%).

Thank you to everyone who continue to pay on their pledges. Special envelopes are still available on the table with the orders of service to use when paying you pledge. If you would like to know where you stand on your pledge, feel free to contact Kay Eckman or our book-keeper, MaryBeth Hannan.

The Bittersweet Christmas Band

traditional and contemporary holiday music

The holidays are a mixed bag – and so is the Bittersweet Christmas Band! Traditional artists Phil Cooper, Margaret Nelson & Kate Early join forces with songwriter and “wise” woman Susan Urban for a show with every possible perspective on the holiday season from the reverent to the ridiculous! Two to four-part harmonies and masterful instrumentation on guitar, banjo, mountain dulcimer, hand drum and other percussion instruments make the Bittersweet Christmas Band an act not to be missed!

Healthy Congregations Training

Are you interested in helping our congregation grow even healthier? We are looking for a small team of people to participate in the upcoming Healthy Congregations training in our cluster. Healthy Congregations, Inc. is an ecumenical, not for profit educational and consulting agency which focuses on providing resources for training in understanding emotional process in communities of faith, families and organizations. Initially begun as a project based on Peter Steinke's book How Your Church Family Works, this series of six workshops has transformed congregations (including Unitarian Universalist) and synagogues all over the country by helping them understand and respond faithfully to emotional process in their communities of faith, their families and other organizations.

The program includes three core sessions and three optional focus sessions. We are hoping that each person on our team will attend the three core sessions and divide up attendance at the supplemental sessions amongst themselves. The sessions will be held from approximately 9:30 to 4 on a series of Saturdays rotating between the Unitarian Universalist congregations in Kent, Akron, Youngstown and Canton. The schedule and topics are as follows:

Three core sessions:

Jan 14 - Creating Healthy Congregations

Feb 4 - Responding to Anxiety and Change

Feb 25 - Leadership in Healthy Congregations

Three focus sessions:

Mar 17 - Relationships in Healthy Congregations

Apr 7 - Stewardship and Generosity

Apr 28 - Spirituality of Healthy Congregations

There is a nominal cost for participation in this program which our church can help cover if needed. Please speak to Rev. Melissa Carvill-Ziemer if you are interested in participating.

We will have Sheetz coupon booklets for sale for a church fundraiser. They include coupons for free food items or buy one get one free deals. Booklets are only $10 and make great gifts!

Everything Old is New Again

I was finding this article for the December newsletter very difficult to write. A Christmas article..... What else could possibly be said about Christmas that hasn't been said before? People who work with families are already talking about how to keep Christmas simple (again) and Unitarian Universalist religious educators have begun their discussions of the best practices around supporting multicultural, multi-faith and inclusive holiday observations (again). It feels as if it has all been said and done before. And, it has. Year, after year, after year...

I was browsing through one of the many catalogs I have received in the past several weeks, and noted (with boredom) that one was selling Christmas tree ornaments and other "tchotchkes". I noticed a few personalized items that stated "Baby's First Christmas" and was reminded that for many of us, including so many families in our church community, this Christmas will bring new experiences and will encourage the development of new family traditions. For so many of us, it hasn't been said and done before. Many of us are looking forward to the newness and to experience Christmas for the first time--again--with their children and grandchildren.

If this Christmas season finds you with a sense of newness in your life, may you be blessed with the joy of co-creating a wonderful holiday with your loved ones. If this Christmas finds you with a sense of sameness in your life, may you be blessed with secure stability.

In faith and with love, Karen Lapidus

Library News

This is a reminder that the Library is open on Sunday during coffee hour. A Library committee member will be there to answer questions, help you find a book, and to assist you with the new checkout process. Do plan to stop by.

New to the Church Library: American Bloomsbury: Louisa May Alcott, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Margaret Fuller, Nathaniel Hawthorne and Henry David Thoreau: Their Lives, Their Loves, Their Works, by Susan Cheever, New York, NY, Simon & Schuster Paperbacks, 2006. "Cheever ...offers a brilliantly evocative glimpse into life in Concord...More than a mere study of the Transcendentalist movement, this intriguing volume examines the dynamic relationships among these remarkable men and women, who constituted what may be considered the first American literary community. Cheever convincingly establishes their work as pivotal in shaping modern thought on the environment and the importance of self....Essential reading for anyone with an interest in American letters." From the Library Journal.

Again, we thank you for your continuing support and interest in the Library.

Ann Waters, Publicity

Book Group

The Book Group will be meeting on Tuesday, December 13 at 7 pm in the home of Kay Wind. This month we are reading a holiday reading of your choice. It may be a novel, short story, or poem. Please bring your reading and a snack to share. In January, we will be reading Winter Garden by Kristen Hannah. The dying wish of a loving father ignites a family drama that brings two sisters and their acid-tongued, Russian-born mother together in a story that reaches back to WWII. In February we will be reading Caleb's Crossing by Geraldine Brooks. In 1665, a young man from Martha's Vineyard became the first Native American to graduate from Harvard College. Upon this slender factual scaffold, the author has created a luminous tale of love and faith, magic and adventure. If you have any questions you may contact Bonnie Harper.

Holiday Events

This December is full of Holiday events, some of which are still in the planning stage, so be sure to check the Thread From The Web and The Enuus for updates! After services on December 4 will be our traditional Hanging of the Greens. This is always a fun event, as we ready our Sanctuary and Founder's Lounge for the holidays! This year our entire Board of Trustees will be there to make light work by many hands! In addition we will be there to meet and greet you all, answering any questions you may have. This is a great chance to get to know your board and have fun!

Our annual Poinsettia sale will begin soon, with details forthcoming.

December 2 is our annual Holiday Family Movie Night. Come to Fessenden Hall at 7 pm to see some of the strangest and funniest x-mas movies and TV shows ever made. Our central film will be the 1960 film "Santa Claus" made by the National Film Board of Mexico (in English). See a traditional Mexican take on the holidays. Then we offer "A Liberace Christmas" with the famous pianist and his brother celebrating the holidays. Then singing police from the Bronx add to the cheer. It will all be in the spirit of fun and silliness.

We will have a holiday sing-in on December 21. Details will follow in the Thread. If you have any questions, please contact Cheryl Spoehr.

At the service auction.

Julie Lineburgh, Trustee for Fellowship

I am pleased to report that we have made some progress in the Young Adult and Campus Ministry programs. This year both the Young Adult and Campus Ministry groups have met several times and are continuing to gain new members as the year goes on. We are in the stage of mainly hosting social events to build community, but are looking forward to various social justice projects as the year goes on. I am looking forward to these groups continuing to grow both in numbers and community.

Christopher Gargoline, Moderator

The growth and expansion of our ministries, internally and externally, as we become more visible and active.

- Melissa's work and ministry both in our beloved community and the broader external community.
- Growth of Campus outreach.

- Alliance with the Kent Community Time Bank as this community-based endeavor continues to grow.
- Our participation in community events to benefit others through the sponsorship of our members.

Change happens as we start with the small things, the small works that are often overlooked and taken for granted. Change happens as we build on the work that others have left for us. Change happens as we begin to move in concert with each other, in the Church and in the community, looking for ways to help and to be of service. Nothing happens until something moves...

Blessings! Christopher
