Ministry Weekend! September 17 & 18, 2016

Saturday, September 17, 2016 2:00p - 5:00p "STAYING GROUNDED IN THE WINDS OF CHANGE"

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST CHURCH OF KENT WORKSHOP

With Reverend Melissa leaving, there are a lot of unknowns about our congregation's future. If we approach the unknown future with wisdom and intentionality, we may not know its details, but we will be able to guide its shape and underlying values.

The "STAYING GROUNDED IN THE WINDS OF CHANGE" workshop is a terrific opportunity to understand how you can help move our congregation into our next season of fruitful ministry!

- Learn about how we, as humans, naturally respond to change.
- Learn how we can use times of change to help better ourselves and our communities.
- Discover where you can help serve our congregation during the upcoming transitions.

The afternoon will begin with the Rev. Renee Ruchotzke and lay leader Jennifer May sharing tips and tools about how to be intentional during times of transition. We will have a break with a Mediterranean Tea, then will convene into small groups to hear about your interests and answer any questions.

WHEN: Saturday, September 17. 2016

WHERE: Fessenden Hall, Kent Unitarian Universalist Church

TIME: 2:00p - 5:00p

Mediterranean Tea: 3:30pm

"Ministries Fair"

On September 18th, after both services, all UUCK Committees, Teams, and Groups will be showcasing their work and ministries. Every Committee and Group is looking to educate us about what their team does and how we can help! There is a Committee or Group for you! Plan to come to the Ministries Fair in Fessenden Hall during Coffee Hour and after Second Service. Learn what goes on and find a match with your interests and skills, and your time availability. Engaging in service to our Community is a pathway to personal and spiritual growth.
